Christian Web Development Company, Urangatang.Com Rolls Out 5-Page "BackClick" Websites, Potentially Free to Small Businesses, Houses of Worship and Non-profit Organizations

Ocean, New Jersey - Dec. 27, 2006 - In honor of its 5th anniversary, Urangatang.Com, a global Christian web development company, is giving away a limited number of five-page websites to small businesses, churches and ministries. The "BackClick" offer includes the cost of the site, the designer templates used to create it, and the cost of web hosting. There are no pop-ups or required advertisements on the sites. The 5-page websites, which normally cost $192 for two years, are free when 5 friends or business associates visit www.backclick.com at your request.

Urangatang.Com is a full-service Christian web development company, headquartered in New Jersey, with offices and consultants located around the world. The company manages all types of business websites - religious and non-religious -- offering complete full-service solutions including site design, deployment, optimization for search engines and more.

Norton explains that recipients of the BackClick offer can use their own domain name, purchase a domain name, or use the Urangatang.Com server as their web address. All free five-page websites permit one unique 20K graphic on each page of the site, which the recipient may upload and replace at anytime.

The company is limiting the number of free websites according to their servers' capacity. Over the next several years, they expect to donate approximately one million free websites, distributed on a first-come, first-served basis.
